FROM THE PRESIDENT

The moment we have all been waiting for has finally arrived! The renovation is almost complete. The bookshelves and carpeting are being installed and the move in date has been scheduled. I would like to apologize for the delay in reopening the library. But all of the unexpected surprises are behind us and I promise that it will be worth the wait. A grand reopening has been scheduled. It will include an official ribbon cutting, raffle drawing, a burying of a time capsule by the local Cub Scout troop and much more. Please check our website, our social media platforms or the local paper for the exact day and time. There will be modified hours during the move, so that service to our patrons is disrupted as little as possible.

There is still time to stop by the library if you have not had a chance to purchase a brick, take your chance to win $10,000 or would like to make a tax deductible donation.

A big thank you to North Fork Woodworks for taking on our ambitious project and treating our library with the love and respect it is due. Also thank you to our architect Vincent Benic for having the vision and design for our library. The new library design combined restoring the original splendor to an historic building while at the same time providing all of the modern amenities that are expected in a modern library. Words don't do it justice. It needs to be seen to be believed.

Finally and most of all, thank you to the residents of Southold and Peconic for all of your support, understanding and encouragement. Without you, this project would not have been possible. I look forward to seeing you at the grand reopening and more importantly, in the library for years to come, utilizing all that the new space has to offer.

Sincerely,

David Robinson
